FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

SCOOTER PATROL –PARTNERS UP WITH TSUNAMI SUSHI

PROVIDING A DESIGNATED DRIVER FOR SUPER BOWL PARTY GOERS

Sunset Beach, CA - (January 31, 2007) Scooter Patrol –A non-profit organization committed to keeping drunk drivers off the road will be volunteering their services this Super Bowl Sunday, February 4th at Tsunami Sushi in Sunset Beach.

The much celebrated American tradition of Super Bowl Sunday is quickly approaching. As the Colts get ready to challenge the Bears, Tsunami is getting ready to host the ultimate Sunday-Funday party. After sport enthusiasts get their fill of football, and in this case, beer, sake and sushi, Scooter Patrol will ensure that no one will have to drive themselves home intoxicated, offering rides home in your own vehicle or via shuttle. Once arriving home, the party goer can rest assured that they are safe, and their vehicle is out of harm's way. Service is free of charge and gratuities are accepted.

When Scooter Patrol isn't volunteering at events, such as the Tsunami Super Bowl Party, the concept is simple: After having a few drinks, a potential drunk driver simply contacts Scooter Patrol, by calling either the Long Beach or Orange County Chapter, and requests service. Founder of Scooter Patrol, Anthony Panzica commented, "It will be a blast to work with Tsunami for their Super Bowl Party. After living in Orange County for a while now, it's really gratifying to be able to give back to this community."

Scooter Patrol is ensuring that people can go out, enjoy themselves, and not feel pressured to drive their vehicle home if they are too impaired to do so – making the road a less dangerous place for everyone.
